

FLEXILOO™

the most versatile toilet systems in the world

Flexiloo has had an exciting few months with the launch of our brand new product FlexilooSmart™ hitting the event market, and the original FlexilooFirst™ appearing at various prestigious events up and down the country!

FlexilooSmart™ was introduced at the Showman's Show 2013 where existing and potential new customers had a sneak peak at our new sanitary system, that is in the form of an unique flat pack design, which allows the panels to fit together simply and efficiently. Every panel has a purpose design aluminium edge making them strong and practical. Flexiloo Smart™ can be built into any configuration. The panels can be supplied in an endless choice of finishes to suit your style of event. The flexibility of our Smart™ system means we can accommodate any type of event or number of people as toilet, urinal, shower and vanity panels can be added continuously. Smart™ has been built at many events already in the country including Goodwood's Festival of Speed, The Driver's Lounge for the British Grand Prix at Silverstone Circuit in Northamptonshire, The Game Fair at Blenheim Palace and worldwide at a secret location in the Middle East for a VVIP event.

FlexilooFirst™ is still going strong in the event market with our current and new customers buying more and more and installing them at events like the UK's biggest music festival Glastonbury and The Commonwealth Games in Glasgow. One of our established customers in France has ordered more First™ and FlexilooVT™ trailers. Flexiloo is continuing to make a big impact on the mobile event market all over the world with exciting new projects on the cards!

Here at Flexiloo there have been some big changes to our company. We have made the logical and rightful decision to move production of the Flexiloo modules to specialists in the design, manufacture and installation of display systems and retail interiors. This was a decision that has been considered for some time but we feel this will improve the efficiency of the manufacturing and production of all of our Flexiloo products. We are thrilled over this new chapter of Flexiloo and look forward to cooperating with the manufacturing com-
